Senior Class Poem

BUILD FOR CHARACTER, NOT FOR FAME

When your day seems over-crowded
 With the shadows of despair,
When the light of life seems shrouded,
 And temptations everywhere;
Classmates, ere doubt's flick'ring ember
 Burns out hope and life's own flame
Take our motto, and remember
 "Build for character, not for fame."

Does dark gloom lie on the meadow
 Where bright sunlight ought to fall?
Does something cast a shadow
 That lies brooding over all?
Are you sad because of Fortune,
 Does she fail to speak your name?
Remember then our motto:
 "Build for character, not for fame."

We could never glimpse the far beam
 Of attainment through strong light;
Fame could not be gained, we now deem
 If life's hours were always bright;
Don't play hero just for praise,
 That, you know, would spoil the game;
But think before a hand you raise—
 "Build for character, not for fame."

Parting till this hour has never
 Cast its shadows o'er our class;
But the call has come to sever,
 And it grieves us as we pass;
But o'er the gulf of long departure
 (Ne'er, perhaps, you'll hear our name)
Will be the tie that binds our future—
 "Build for character, not for fame."

Class President's Address

As president of the Class of 1923, I wish to extend to you a most cordial welcome to these our Commencement exercises.

Even as I welcome you, I feel that in a greater sense you too, are welcoming us into the new adventure of life which awaits us. To have this welcome from you is indeed gratifying; for what more than this could we desire, as we commence this new life that lies before us?

Our twelve years of public school training are ended; we now cast away our High School privileges and pleasures and are prepared and eager to enter upon a greater field of endeavor; to take upon ourselves larger responsibilities, and to assume the graver burdens which we must take upon ourselves as we leave the High School so dear to us.

Hereafter, we shall retain only the delightful memories of these instructive and enjoyable school days.

In completing our high school course, we have availed ourselves of a privilege which is the right of every boy and girl. The Nation has come to demand that at least a majority of its people must have a high school education thus providing the intelligent citizenship necessary to insure the future welfare of our country and its institutions.

We have been prepared for our after school life by able and conscientious teachers and supervisors and if we have failed to benefit as we should from our four years of work in high school it is through no fault of our instructors. They have watched over us, advised and instructed us—they have done everything in their power to develop in us those qualities which we should possess as worthy graduates of Medina High School.

We must now leave the old building where we have spent so profitable days; and, in leaving it, we feel as though we were leaving a friend with whom we shall never again be closely associated.

In a few days, our class will be broken up and scattered but the friendships of the past twelve years will remain with us throughout life.

It has been said that

"The hills are dearest which our childish feet
Have climbed the earliest, and the streams most sweet
Are ever those at which our young lips drank—
Stooped to the waters o'er the grassy bank."

This may well be said of friendships, and, after tonight, I am sure we shall often look back upon our High School days and yearn for the companionship and the presence of these, our schoolmates, with whom we have had so many thoughts in common in the past twelve years.

Will not the many delightful memories of hours spent with our school day friends serve to invigorate and inspire us in our work in the years to come?

As we step forth from school life into the stern realities of life's school, we may seem to you, somewhat backward and ungainly in the new places which we hope to hold in the practical world; but we beg you, before passing judgment upon us, to give us a little time for readjustment.

You will observe that we have selected for the motto of the class of 1923, "Build for character." In so doing it is with the realization that moral qualities spring from the heart, not from the head; that they are rooted in conscience and moral purpose and not in the intellect, and that scholarship and integrity, intelligence and virtue are not synonymous terms. As we go forth from high school, each to his own work, we realize that henceforth, each must build for himself. We hope that in the years to come we may build into our lives the virtues that are truly worth-while and that whatever else we may procure as a result of our efforts, we may possess integrity, initiative, a sense of responsibility, reverence, and such other qualities as will enable us to achieve life in an abundant measure. If we, as a result of our high school education, can go forth into the world and prove ourselves to be real men and women; prove ourselves to be successful as human beings, then, indeed, shall we prove ourselves worthy of the honors conferred upon us tonight.

Once again in behalf of the Class of 1923 I bid you welcome.

Class History 1923

By HELEN RIEGGER

The fall of 1910 marked the entrance of the Senior Class of 1923 into the realms of knowledge and books, when a group of round-eyed, eager boys and girls importantly entered Kindergarten. During this year under the guidance of "Miss Canavan" we learned to sing "Good Morning to You" and "Good Morning Dear Teacher," to make wonderful designs of bright colored blocks, pegs and sticks; to skip up and down aisles, and most important of all, learned to obey.

The next fall we had reached the proud position of first grade. From there on except for, occasionally losing some members, often adding a few to our number, our struggle to the eighth grade was not marked by any special event.

By the time we had reached our eighth year of school the flu epidemic came along causing a great deal of confusion. New members joined our group, a few were left by the wayside, until at the present time some of us are not able to account for our presence here.

Our Freshman year was spent quietly as becomes strangers in a foreign domain.

But with our Sophomore year our journalistic tendencies struggled up. We published "Broadway Times," thus achieving for our class the distinction of being the first class in Medina High to bring out a school paper.

Our social activities were rather limited,—(I think we had two parties).

The second edition of "Broadway Times" appeared during our Junior year. Then too, we added to our literary fame by publishing "Memories of M. H. S."—The High School Annual.

By this time we were paying more attention to social affairs, chief of which was the Junior-Senior Banquet, held at Chippewa Inn. A special feature of this affair was the presentation by the Juniors of "A Mock Graduation."

Senior class activities are generally wider and our class has proved no exception. We have conducted this winter a lyceum course consisting of five numbers. We found our treasury in ruins and to pay debts and square ourselves with the world financially, we sold tickets for "The Storm," a motion picture, thus receiving commission on proceeds. The third number of "Broadway Times" came out in the early part of our Senior year. Concerning class parties, our aim seems to have been "Few parties, but good ones."

As we look forward to June 7, our day of commencement, a feeling half sadness, half gladness is uppermost. Of one thing we are confident, that, as we go out into the larger school of life we shall take with us happy memories, and bits of wisdom gathered from Medina High.

Valedictory -- "World Peace"

By RUTH NICHOLS

Never before in the history of the world has there been such a universal cry for world peace,—for a warless world. All the nations of the world desire it; yet many of the thinking men of today believe that another war is near. On this very day, in every great country of the world, including our own, great numbers of skilled, educated, and industrious men are planning in the most minute detail the utilization of our boys, and others like them, in the next war. What a tragedy to civilization this would be. There were 35 million men in the late war, fully one-third of whom were killed; and an equally large number have perished from the effects of the four years following the war. The results of another war would be even more disastrous than that of the last; for more terrible inventions and devices have been made, and the destruction to life and property would be greater.

Civilization is in greater danger of collapsing than it was at the crisis of the world war, or than it has been in a thousand years before. It behooves those who seek a remedy to face the situation squarely and frankly, however unpleasant the facts may be. The blind American belief that such things will come out all right somehow has no application to such a condition. They will not come out all right unless they are remedied by conscious, heroic and intelligent effort. America in the past never hesitated to declare its principles and stand up boldly as an advocate for peace, but is it doing so now? Is it remembering its principles or is it standing aloof watching the other nations struggle?

Graduates of today, we of the coming generation who are to be the men and women of tomorrow, it is to us that America must trust and we must not fail her. We must take our places in the world and help carry out her ideals. It matters not so much in what manner we do this, whether through one plan or another, but it all remains that a warless world must be established.

"Let there be no more battles; field and flood
Are weary of battle blood.

Even the patient stones
Are weary of shrieking shells and dying groans
Lay the sad swords asleep;
They have their fearful memories to keep.
And fold the flag;
They weary of battle days,
Weary of wild flights up the windy ways.
Quiet the restless flags,
Grown strangely old upon the smoking crags.
Look where they startle and leap—
Look where they hollow and heap—
Now greatening into glory and now thinned,
Living and dying momentarily on the wind.
Bugles that have cried on sea and land
The silver blazon of their high command—
Bugles that held long parley with the sky—
Bugles that shattered the nights on battle walls
Lay them to rest in dim memorial halls;
For they are weary of the curdling cry
That tells men how to die.
And cannons worn out with their work of hell—
The brief abrupt persuasion of the shell—
Let the shrewd spider lock them, one by one,
With filmy cables glancing in the sun;
And let the bluebird in their iron throats
Build his safe nest and spill his rippling notes,
And let there be no more battles men of earth;
The new age rises singing into birth!

Classmates,—as we stand here tonight at the meeting of a happy past and an unknown future, we have come not to the end but to the commencement of our lives. Let us remember our high school with gratitude, for many of us the education we have received these four years will be the only capital we have in beginning life. Great things await us; but the time has come to part, so with steadfast loyalty to each other, undying love for Medina High School and hearts set on high things and broad enough for all, we go forth—and God-speed.

Class Will

By NEDRA EDWARDS

We, the undersigned, knowing that our days in the old M. H. S. are numbered, and wishing to give solace and comfort to our under classmen also to the long suffering Faculty, being of sound mind and body, to hereby present our last will and testament.

ARTICLE 1.—To the notorious Juniors, we, the Class of '23, do bequeath our seats in the Senior room including all deposits of gum and waste paper found in connection with same. We also bequeath the privileges of going up and down the stairs the quickest and easiest way possible; taking physical culture whenever attacked by chills on cold days in the assembly room; chewing gum, parafin or other chewy substances in any of Miss Phillips' classes; taking an afternoon off to fish, hike or ride whenever seized by the "Call of the Wild" or the most honored privilege of participating in a half-hour to three-hour conference with Mr. Wagner in the office due to some misdemeanor on their part.

ARTICLE 2.—To the eminent Sophomores we do give and bequeath the privilege of carving names on walls and desks; reading "Snappy Stories," "Life" or the Medina County Gazette in Assembly. We also bequeath to said class the use of the Encyclopedia and Dictionary; they are to make great and frequent use thereof.

ARTICLE 3.—To the irresponsible Freshman class we bequeath all our old gum wrappers, pencil stubs, chalk dust and notes; also the privilege of engaging in loud conversation in Assembly while attempting to consume peanuts, apples, or candy.

ARTICLE 4.—To the Faculty we present our sincerest apologies for our past transgressions, and the privilege of disciplining all inmates of M. H. S. as they shall see fit, this privilege not to be granted however, until after our departure from M. H. S.

In addition to these foregoing general bequests we beg to present the following from individual members of the deceased class who from time to time, prior to the great catastrophe that will result in the "passing away" of the entire class, felt the approach of the fated hour and made the following bequests in order that their worldly effects might be properly disposed of when the time came for them to pass on to their final rewards.

I, Gertrude Hunt, will my ability to make button holes to Virginia Crump and my love to make pie crust to Margaret Shaw.

I, Kathrine Clement, leave my toy dog used in illustrating French to any little Freshie needing amusement in Assembly.

I, Myrtle Lance, do hereby leave my Civics questions with answers to some poor Junior who expects to follow the straight and narrow path.

I, Edith, Fulton, do hereby will my ability to keep "off" the tardy list to Ethel Clement.

I, Dortha DeMay, bequeath my height to Velma Shook and my grades in Chemistry to any one who is willing to take same.

I, LaVelle Kirk, will my splendid success to get dates on short notice to Henry Crisick.

I, Bee Bowman, do bequeath my high soprano voice to Eddie Cox and my King Tut sandals to Miss Phillips to be worn at football games only.

I, Miriam Winters, do hereby bequeath my ability to "hear all, see all, and say nothing" to Pauline Fisher.

I, Gladys Shook, bequeath my ability to receive E in deportment to Phillips Holmes.

I, Harold Sylvester, bequeath my talent to "jazz" the ivories together with my exceeding popularity among the ladies to Lefty Thomas.

I, Doris Waltz, do will and bequeath my ability to talk with my hands to Lura Pelton.

I, Edna Wolfe, bequeath to Maizie Tollafeld my ability to "bluff" all teachers, especially Miss Phillips, when I find that I lack ample knowledge on the lesson.

I, Theodore Kirk, bequeath my ability to concentrate in Assembly to Civvy Bagley.

I, Alice Barrow, bequeath my well practiced "art" of gum chewing together with five sticks of Juicy Fruit to Miss Phillips.

I, Dick Abbott, will $7\frac{1}{4}$ inches of my pompadour to Hall Kellogg to be worn in a braid over his left shoulder and curled when the weather permits.

I, Doris Kelly, bequeath my ability to flirt to Esther Freeman.

I, Lawrence Hemmeter, will my ability to be flirted at to Bob Standen.

I, Bella McMillan, will my ability to keep quiet to Alice Robinson.

I, Helen Eckert, bequeath my dimple to Tunk Simmons.

I, Gordon Kellogg, will my chauffeuring ability to any crowd needing a speedy driver.

I, Violet Gray, will my knowledge of Cicero to Amherst Spitzer.

I, Marel Hart, bequeath my extreme Senior dignity to Helen Ridiker.

I, Ralph Randall, bequeath about 30 permit slips that were never called for to Donald Ausman.

I, Lucy Snow, do hereby will my ability to "pull" money from unwilling Seniors to the unfortunate Junior secretary.

I, Ruth Nichols, bequeath my unused cosmetics to Florence Phillips on condition that she uses these once each period or they shall be turned over to Bessie Armbruster.

I, Helen Reigger, do hereby will my wrist watch with the "second" hand to Miss Farnum that she may give speed tests to the next Shorthand class.

I, Lillian Watters, will my height to Robert Schamp, however I refuse to will my diamond.

I, Eckley Chase, will my perpetual motion to Wayne Wheeler.

I, Zella Kindig, bequeath my Junior Youth to any Senior who is in need of good entertainment.

I, Nedra Edwards, bequeath my ability to yell at football games to Virginia Wilt and my freckles to Ruth House.

I, Helen Woods, will my King Tut dress together with red sandals and stockings to Miss Wright to be worn at the next H. S. picnic.

I, Maynard Flickinger, will my perfect command of "king's English" to Ernest Vance

I, John Tuttle, respectfully will my skill in dancing to Tom Rowe.

I, Thomas Hood, do hereby leave my Physics problems (already solved) to any Junior intending to take that subject.

I, Dorothy Woodruff, will my unexcelled ability to say "No" to an invitation to go fishing to Alverta Munson and seven others.

I, Eugene Tanner, do hereby bequeath my ability to get to school in time to be 20 minutes late to anyone who can get away with it.

I, Evelyn Wideman, bequeath to one Junior girl the privilege of being the only girl in Physics class.

I, Florence Burens, bequeath to Ted McDowell my means of transportation to and from school i.e. horse and buggy. This horse answers to the name of "Sparky" and is guaranteed to go to Munson's driveway without guidance.

I, Reed McClure, will my daily arguments with Miss Phillips to any History student desiring exercise.

I, Chet Simmons, do bequeath one pair of badly torn football pants to any Freshie who thinks he can stand my share of bawling outs from the coach.

I, Grace Martin, do hereby bequeath my ability to blow up the Lab. with a hydrogen generator to Elmer Young.

I, Arleen Beck, do this day bequeath to Professor Wagner my sunny disposition, poetic talent and entire savings ($2.99) to further the Anti-Note campaign conducted by him.

I, Evelyn Nichols, will the privilege of wearing a diamond on my left hand to Mildred Cole.

I, Robert Fritz, bequeath the privilege of ringing the last gong, making innocent students account for their tardiness to Mr. Wagner to any one looking for amusement.

Class Prophecy

By ECKLEY CHASE

The following dispatches were received at Station M. H. S. on the sixth day of June, 1943, summarizing the most important events of the preceding month.

Station WWJ, Detroit, Michigan

Doris E. Waltz has recently been elected chairman, or rather chairwoman, of the League of Women Voters. This organization held its annual meeting in Detroit last week. The district managers of the organization were also elected, the names of Lillian Watters and Edna Wolfe appearing on the list of managers.

John Tuttle, drug magnate, has hired a new private secretary in the person of Miss Lucy Snow. Mr. Tuttle explained that he wanted a secretary who would be cool at all times.

Esther Venner and Jean Seymour have organized a Dramatic club for the purpose of giving amateurs a chance to develop their talents in the fine arts.

Station WJAX of Cleveland

Maynard K. Flickinger was unanimously elected Chief Kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan at the convention held here recently. The chief speaker of this convention, Lawrence B. Hemmeter, noted spiritualist, advanced a new spiritualistic theory that is creating a great deal of excitement throughout the country.

The music for this convention was furnished by the Harold Sylvester orchestra.

Station KDKA, Pittsburg, Pa.

Reed C. McClure, assistant chemical engineer of the Bethlehem Steel Company has been sent to Paris in behalf of the American Institute of Scientific Research of which he is president. Mr. McClure also expects to explain to Mme. Curie his new process of obtaining radium.

Station WHK, Cleveland

Miss Doris E. Kelly has entered the newspaper work. She has recently accepted a position as assistant to Martha E. Lee of the Cleveland News.

It is reported by one of the Cleveland newspapers that Theodore Kirk, manager of the large Barber Farm, has resigned his position to become secretary of agriculture in the governor's cabinet.

The McMillan and Martin Co., book sellers, have announced the arrival of several new books to be placed on sale immediately. Among this list is "Why Catskill Mountains" by Helen Riegger. This book is expected to make a great hit with the fiction-reading public, according to Miss Dorothy Woodruff, critic.

Miss Ruth Nichols, authoress of world renown, was at the R. H. Randall Co.'s book department all last week autographing all copies of her books sold.

Station XZR, Washington, D. C.

Major Richard G. Abbott, commanding officer of West Point, is in Washington conferring with Helen Woods, first woman president of the United States in regard to giving West Point cadets shorter study hours so as to reduce the mental strain on said cadets.

President Woods has appointed Hugh M. Buchanan to fill the place of Thomas J. Hood, recently resigned secretary of agriculture.

B. E. Tanner of the patent office has issued his monthly report which tells of Evelyn Wideman securing a patent on an egg beater which is guaranteed to beat both sides of an egg at once and also to beat all other beaters on the market. The Shook, Fulton and Lance Novelty Co., sole agents for Miss Wideman's product, have engaged Dortha DeMay as general manager of the house to house canvass they expect to launch in the near future. Helen Spieth is Miss DeMay's assistant in this work.

Mr. Tanner has applied for a patent on a new Type wheelbase to be used exclusively on Chevrolet cars.

LaVelle Kirk, Ralph DePalma's successor, has entered his name in the International Auto races to be held here next month. Robert Fritz will ride with Kirk as his mechanic. Kirk is driving for the Briscoe Motor Co.

Miss Helen Eckert, manager of the Rieder hotel, has made accommodations for twice as many patrons as they usually handle as the races are expected to draw large crowds.

Station WEAJ, of New York

The Misses Bee Bowman and Nedra Edwards have opened their Fifth avenue Conservatory of Music after returning from a two years' trip abroad where they have been studying under the French masters. From now on they expect to conduct their Conservatory as those of Europe are conducted. They have engaged Miss Arleen Beck as teacher of the violin.

Gertrude Hunt and Zellah Kindig have been engaged by Columbia University to take charge of the University's new "Kitchen Science" department.

Mr. Gordon Kellogg, Wall Street financier, has gone to Europe to study economic conditions there. Mr. Kellogg leaves his business in charge of his private secretary, Miss Violet Gray and his partner Chester W. Simmons.

Miss Alice Barrow has been employed as head nurse at the new Winters-Clement charity hospital with Minnie Haas and Florence Burens as her assistants.

Miss Marel Hart has started on a European trip, the expenses of which are to be paid by the University of the City of New York where Miss Hart has so faithfully served as Registrar for the last ten years.

Miss Evelyn Nichols is still tutoring shorthand and typewriting along with her household duties.

WILL

I, Hugh Buchanan, do bequeath my ability to blush to Wallace Bryenton, my experience with the clarinet to Ralph Wise to be used with his oboe, also my sincerest gratitude to the Faculty for their patience with my inert gray matter.

I, Lydia Reider, bequeath my spit curl, vanity case, and the "remains" of the powder to Mr. Ruth.

I, Jean Seymour, will my ability to "pass out" together with a bad case of "giggles" to Mr. Wagner to be experimented on in the laboratory.

I, Minnie Hass, for the enlightenment of the oncoming students of History, will my history notebook to the Library of the new Medina H. S.

I, Helen Spieth, do hereby bequeath all my broken laboratory apparatus and ability to get Es to a future chemistry student.

I, Esther Venner, will my ability as pianist of the M. H. S. orchestra to Bill Sohl.

History of 4-B Class

By ERWIN EASTWOOD

In January, 1920, a class of twenty-six left Miss Wheatley's care and came into High School as green freshies. We were invited upon the stage by the seniors and received our first instructions.

The first thing the class did was to organize. The following officers were elected: Erwin Eastwood, president; Helen Woods, vice-president; Nedra Edwards, secretary, and Beatrice Bowman, treasurer.

During our Freshman year we had two parties, both held in the Garfield building.

When we started our Sophomore year we lost a few members but gained others, still keeping our original number of twenty-six.

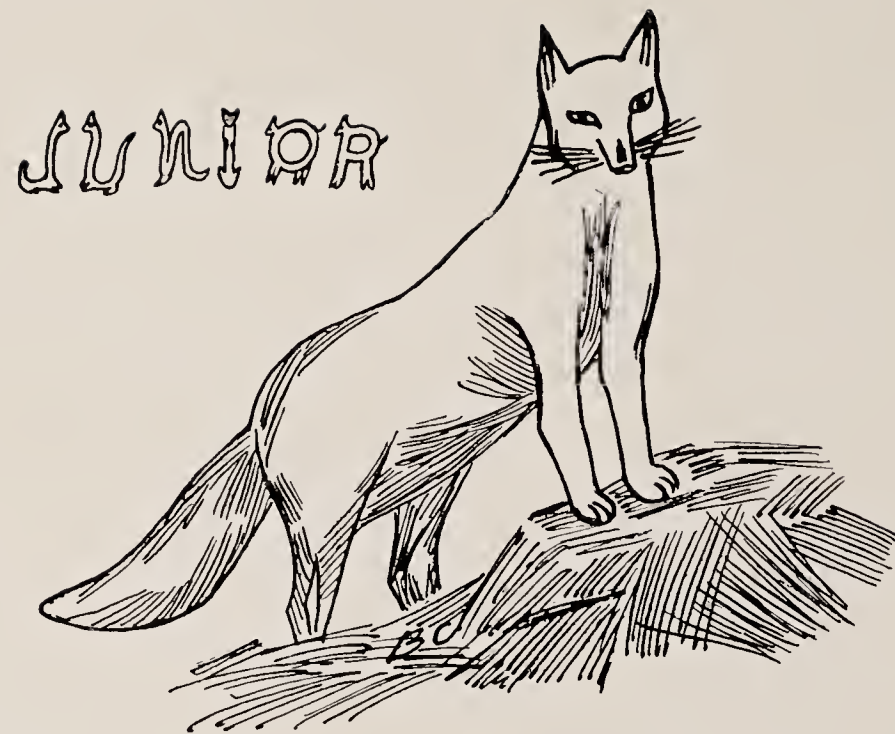

We were very studious during our Sophomore year and had time for only one party which we held in the Garfield building.

In our Junior year we lost six of our members, some going ahead and others we left behind. While Junior Bs we could not find time for a party, but when Junior As we enjoyed one in the Garfield building, entertaining the Junior Bs.

When we started as Senior Bs we lost all but eleven of our members, some going ahead, others moving away and still others going behind. The last half of the semester when the roll was called we found we had only six members, three of which were of the original twenty-six, namely, Rae White, Amherst Spitzer and Erwin Eastwood.

We hope that when we graduate we will still possess the high standards which we have obtained during our previous High School years.

3-A Class History

In September, 1920, a very frightened group of "Freshies" ascended the Medina High School steps, and entered the Freshman room under the care of Miss Rice. We were initiated by "Fat" Garver and then allowed to find our way about the building. Needless to say, groups of Freshmen were lost daily and had to be conducted to their home room by obliging Seniors.

Socially, we were not a success the first year, but we had several class parties the second and third year.

Our class now numbers twenty-five pupils and we are going to do our best to show Medina High what we are made of.

2-A Class History

By ALVERTA MUNSON

There were sixty-six of us to come into High School but we have yet to find out how many there will be to go out.

During our entire Freshman year we had the Freshman room as our home room and Miss Rice as our home room teacher. At our election of officers we chose Ernest Vance for president of our class and Nora Kindig for secretary and treasurer.

We have not had very many parties but we have had good times at those which we did have. One was at the Garfield building and another was out in the country. We roasted weiners and marshmallows and by appearances I think it would be safe to say that everyone had enough to eat.

Our class is a large one and we only hope it will be as large when we graduate as it is now.

Sophomore-B Class History

By DEAN OATMAN

A small boy's idea of heaven is a place where ice cream bricks are used for paving. The road the class of 1925 is travelling to get an education if paved at all, is greatly in need of improvements, for we get the bumps.

That September morning in 1913 when a number of mothers took their young hopefuls to the Kindergarten and told Miss Ella all their good qualities, and left her to find the faults, was the beginning of the school life of this class of 1925 of Medina High School.

But the mighty oaks from little acorns grow. Nine of this class, Margaret Watkins, Kathleen Aylard, Genevieve Winters, Hall Kellogg, Albert Abrams, Tom Rowe, Ted McDowell, Richard Warner, and Dean Oatman, started in Kindergarten together.

In the first year we lost Margaret Watkins, but she joined us in the third grade and with her Florence Yeakle. We went steadily on, gaining and losing members until we had the present class of eighteen. In the sixth grade

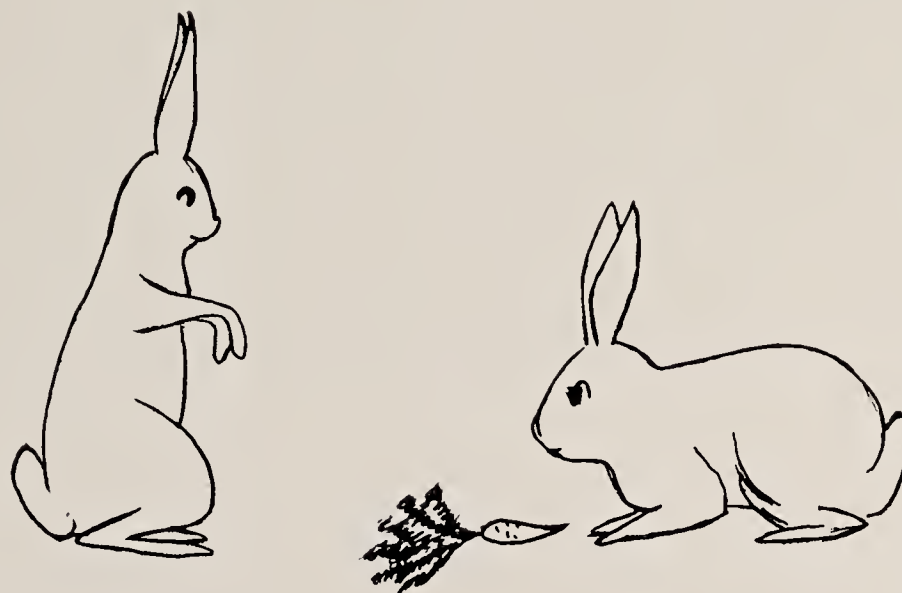

Velda Eastwood, Violet Tooker, Henry Crisick and Robert Searles joined us, and later in Miss Wheatley's room Clayton Bates, Phillips Holmes, Frank Erb and Ellory Davis.

We had our first party when we were in Miss Wheatley's room at the home of Margaret Watkins, which was a success, and many since at various homes.

We were given a hearty welcome when we entered Medina High School and have had many good times since.

Of our small class of eighteen, we have contributed talent to the orchestra and band and to athletics.

Ever since we entered under Miss Ella's care we have grown, bodily and morally, and although we have shown some talent and ability to do things since we have entered High School, we hope to contribute more to the school in return for our education in time to come, as we are only Sophomores now.

Class History of 1-A

By ELEANOR FREEMAN

In September, 1922, a very green bunch of "Freshies" ascended the steps of old M. H. S. and on that first day Laurence Hemmeter kindly invited us to show our talents.

We were given the Freshman room with Miss Rice in charge. Shortly afterwards we had a class meeting and elected our class officers: Harold Hunter, president; Virginia Crump, vice-president; Velma Shook, secretary; and Irvin Strong, treasurer.

We have held two parties so far, one in October and one in February. We were fortunate enough to attend both parties given at the I. O. O. F. hall.

In January we became 1 A's. We are all looking forward to the time when we shall be the upper classmen of M. H. S.

Class History 1-B

By KATHERINE ROOT

We entered High School in January, and had the distinction of being the first class not initiated, for which some of us were thankful and some were not. However, some of us felt that we had been initiated when we took part in the program which the 1B class presented one Friday morning in Assembly.

We find that the average age of both boys and girls is a little over fourteen, the boys' average age being slightly higher than the girls'. Eleven attended kindergarten in Medina and have been in the Medina schools ever since. We have spent on an average about eight years in the eight grades, and here, again, the average of the boys slightly exceeds that of the girls. We are seventeen in number.

In March we elected officers, choosing Katherine Root, president; Harold Fisher, vice-president, and Mabel Fretter, secretary and treasurer.

We had two parties in the eighth grade, one of which was to celebrate our entrance to High school. We were very glad our upper classmen had decided to have two High School parties this winter, for we were thereby privileged to attend the second one, where we had a very good time.

April 14 we had a party at the Garfield building, at which we had a very good time.

We hope to have more good times in High School, and also to accomplish some good hard work.

BOOKKEEPING

By MAE F. SHEERLEIN

The aim of this course is to present the correct principles of bookkeeping and accounting. In connection with the mastery of the principles, efficiency in applying this knowledge is emphasized; and accuracy, neatness and speed are stressed. An accurate check is kept on all work of the student so that he may be impressed with the necessity of always making a correct record of a transaction.

The student who masters the principles of this course need not hesitate to accept a position as a bookkeeper in any office. He may rest assured that the training received will prepare him to make a correct record in an efficient manner; and that the work he does will be approved by the accountant who audits his books.

Required:

3B—Business forms and vouchers, journalizing, posting, taking trial balances, taking inventories, balance sheets, statements of assets and liabilities, profit and loss statements, closing ledgers. A model set is used to illustrate the recording of transactions and to serve as a basis to correlate practice with the principles discussed. The model set consists of a retail grocery business having a single proprietor.

3A—Partnership.

Elective:

4B—Corporation accounting.

4A—Cost accounting.

COMMERCIAL ARITHMETIC

The course in Commercial Arithmetic is given to increase the speed and accuracy in solving practical oral and written problems. A great deal of drill is given in rapid figuring and the student should from this course gain a better working knowledge of practical arithmetic.

For those who never intend to go to college this is more practical than the taking of advanced algebra and solid geometry courses.

ECONOMICS

By VERNA PERKINS

The study of Economics is a science that, until just recently has not been taught in the public high school, but has been taken up in college. But, as the public high school is the finishing school for many people it is of great importance that this subject should be taken during the high school course. Since most of those people can have no other training in economical principles than that gained in the public high school, it is highly essential that the textbook placed in their hands should be something more than an introduction to the college course.

This science deals with the material aspects of life. It tries in a scientific spirit to explain the activities of mankind in securing a living; to study man as a wealth-getter and a wealth-user; and to account for the motives and the forces that constantly appear in the business relations of the world. It illustrates every law and principle by references to historical events and to every-day experiences, by the use of graphs and finally, to show the relations of each law and principle to the industrial activities in which practically every high school boy and many of our girls must engage.

TOUCH TYPEWRITING

By MISS FARNUM

The very name itself implies the method to be used to obtain the best results. Fortunately some of our machines have blind keyboards—having no visible letters on them—thus making it necessary for the beginner to learn the exact position of each key. So we learn to feel our way over the keyboard so that our eyes need not be taken from our notes or copy before us.

The work in the Manual includes all kinds and forms of business correspondence (to be arranged and paragraphed by the student), tabulated statements and bills, addressing and the folding of letters properly, telegrams, drafts and some legal work.

This year we have taken care of most of the office work, thereby obtaining some actual experience. We do all the mimeographing for our own needs and occasionally we have done some for outsiders.

There are about fifty students taking typewriting this semester. We have fourteen machines—Underwood and Remington—all have standard keyboards.

SHORT HAND

The Gregg System of Shorthand is taught in the Medina High School. This system was developed by John Robert Gregg in England and was introduced into this country about thirty years ago. This system is the easiest and most efficient known as there is no shading and difficult position writing. At present this system is used in every state in the Union and is taught in about 88% of the High Schools in the cities and towns.

In Medina High School a two year's course is offered, which includes a thorough study of the theory of Shorthand and business letters selected from every kind of business.

Some of the people now studying Shorthand will probably not actually earn their living by doing stenographic work but the Commercial Course offers a means of at least partial self-support without any special training beyond the High School.

Vocational Agriculture

By NORMAN ABBOTT

The aim of Vocational Agriculture is to prepare the farm boy of high school age for the occupation of farming and to develop the characteristics of a good citizen, a strong four-year High School course is offered, with one agriculture subject each year. All the boys have a home project each year, each raising some crop or some kind of livestock. In this way we can put into practice what we have studied in school and learn how to do things in the best way.

This year the Department started out with 22 boys at the beginning of the second semester there were 21 boys. This is just a little below the average number of boys in the other departments of the state. There are now 112 departments of vocational agriculture in the state. Our department was one of the first ones started in 1917 under the Smith Hughes law.

Mr. Barnes secured a man from the State University to conduct a tractor school for the farmers of this locality. This school lasted three weeks, from February 12th to March 2nd. There were over thirty farmers enrolled who attended this course every day. The last day there was a feed at noon and a program at the High School in the afternoon.

This year Mr. Barnes has had a class in farm shop work. In this class we make things useful for the farm and our projects, we also learn to do soldering work, harness work, rope work and several other things which a farmer should know how to do. This spring the farm shop class made a seed corn tester that will hold 960 ears. We did testing for the farmers, most of the corn tested was from the fathers of boys in the department.

Each year the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, gives an examination, open to all Seniors. The five receiving the highest grades are given a scholarship that pays the tuition for four years in the College of Agriculture. Last year Paul Hostetler and Harold King won scholarships out of over 100 boys taking the examination. This year Hugh Buchanan was the only one from our school to take this examination.

Last spring the class went to Wooster to visit the experiment station, where a man took us over the farm and explained the various experiments. This spring Mr. Barnes expects to take us for another trip to the experiment station.

Some time during the summer we are planning on a project tour so that we can see what the other boys are doing with their projects.

High School Party

By ESTHER FREEMAN

Medina High School held its second High School party in the I. O. O. F. hall March 16, 1923. The proceeds were to go to the Athletic fund and a large sum was raised, each person paying fifty cents admission.

Much credit is due Mr. Case as manager of the party. Peppy games were played until 10 o'clock when refreshments were served. The dancing began at 10 o'clock with Roy Kimmel, pianist, and Richard Warner with drums and traps. Mr. Ruth was chairman of the dance committee and deserves much credit for furnishing us with good music.

Taking the party as a whole it was considered a great success and the Athletic Fund was greatly replenished.

Music Notes, 1922-23

By D. AUSMAN

With a band of forty-five pieces, an orchestra of over thirty, a girls' glee club of nearly ninety, and a boys' glee club of fifty enrolled, music in Medina High School surely boomed this year and has become more popular than ever before.

The band has played at several school activities during the year including the "Candy Sale" at the Primary building and the opening of the new "Pike." The instrumentation is quite complete consisting of 10 cornets, 9 saxophones, 3 baritones, 7 trombones, 1 bass, 5 altos, 2 piccolos, 3 clarinets, 1 bassoon, 1 oboe and 4 drums.

The orchestra, an organization which is a real "pride" of Medina High School has played at the parties, and various social functions of the school. An Innovation at Christmas time was the giving of concerts in the three school buildings and were greatly appreciated by the pupils. Its greatest event was the annual concert when over 600 people listened to the program given by the orchestra, girls' glee club and soloists. Our High School has several coming organists and the use of the organ with the orchestra makes a decided hit.

Early in the year our popular and progressive musical director, John Beck, formulated a plan whereby the high school talent, both individually and collectively was to be developed for the pleasure and the benefit of the school and its friends. We were informed that every week the Assembly would be entertained by Student Musicians. The programs were varied and interesting, and each one was a credit to the school.

Among the most interesting programs were recitals given by the more advanced musicians of the orchestra.

The first of these recitals was given by Donald Ausman, violinist; the next by Richard Warner, on bells, xylophone and piano; the third and fourth by Virginia Wilt and Arleen Beck, both violinists in the orchestra.

Special mention might be made of the fine work done by Robert Gable, cornet; Ralph Wise and Vernon Blanchard, saxophones, and Maynard Flickinger, trombone.

An interesting program was given by the mid-year Freshman class whose members showed considerable musical talent.

During the year the operas "Lohengrin" and "Tannhauser" by Wagner and Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah" were played on the phonograph and were studied.

Mrs. P. C. Bigelow, Medina's popular soprano; Fred Bohley, baritone; Miss Florence Sipher, violinist; Harry Lincoln, 'cello, and other local talent gave programs to the High School and were greatly appreciated by all. We think it is no more than right to mention our musical director, John Beck, under whose guidance and directorship, music was made possible and more popular in Medina Schools.

Football '22

By MYRON PERKINS

On Thanksgiving Day, 1922, Medina High completed the most successful season for many a year. The team lost only one game and that was to Orrville at Orrville. The team played a wonderful game all the year and had excellent support from the town people and vicinity. Of the eleven games that were played, six were on the home gridiron. Medina dedicated the new stadium at West Park by defeating the suburbanites 13-0. M. H. S. journeyed to La Grange with more rooters than the localites were able to muster, consequently walloping the rather antiquated LaGrange eleven 19-0. Chester Simmons played his last stellar football game at LaGrange that day and sustained a broken collar bone. The next big noise (but of little consequence) was the filling of the coffers of the Valley City Athletic Association by Medina village citizens, when about three hundred boosters gathered at Liverpool to watch a game of football. It was a game in some respects. Liverpool was beaten 13-0. It was in this game that Roy Thomas fractured his collar bone, being unable to run his fastest in the "cow pasture." The next game abroad found Medina at Spencer defeating the snappy little Spencer team 19-0. It was in this setto that "Farmer" Vance broke into the backfield and carried the onion. The only other contest which the local boys played away from home was at Orrville, when Orrville beat us in the last half minute of play by completing a long forward pass past our secondary defense which had gone to bed rather early on this particular occasion.

WALTER ROSHON, Captain; Right Half; weight 160; '24.

September found Captain Roshon working harder than ever for Medina's most successful football season.

Walter played right half on offense and center on defense. It never took the opposition very long to get "that guy" spotted. "The Sheriff" did not score much in the first part of the season, but when a few yards were needed he never failed. It was in the Akron East game that Walter hit his stride, ripping off four touchdowns. Our stocky captain turned in a total of eleven touchdowns for the season.

"Tunk" is probably one of Medina High's best all-around athletes. Simmons is classed as one of the best open field runners ever developed at the local school. He has gained many yards by his clever side-stepping and change of pace. "Tunk" will have to play excellent football next year to equal his own record. It was in the Euclid Central game that he showed his greatest scoring ability, making four touchdowns and drop kicking four goals after touchdowns. He scored 137 points. Simmons played safety on defense.

CHESTER SIMMONS, Left Guard; weight 155; '23

"Chet" was a mighty consistent player both on the offense and defense. November 3, at LaGrange, during a series of charges through his side of the line one of LaGrange's weighty linemen fell on Chester, laying "Chet" up with a fractured collar bone for the remainder of the season. The team will lose a good guard when he leaves this June.

ERNEST VANCE, Right Tackle; weight 165; '25.

"Farmer" Vance was a champion punt blocker. Many a time did Ernie get a wallop when he was blocking the pigskin. Ernie was good at tearing holes in the opposing line. We are all glad that he is only a sophomore and has two years of football.

JOE BANKO, Right Guard; weight 150; '25.

Joe was green when the season started. He learned the game fast and was a tower of strength as the season advanced. He is also a sophomore.

WESLEY BARFOOT, Left End; weight 145; '24.

Wesley was a good tackler. This being his first year of football, he did not play until the latter part of the Orrville game, but he showed the "stuff" and won a regular berth.

ROY THOMAS, Fullback; weight 160; '25.

"Lefty" played a great game at fullback being shifted there from right half. "Lefty" could hit the line, run the ends, and forward pass. His left-handed passing proved the undoing of the opposition many times. "Lefty" specialized in end runs of a long variety.

MYRON PERKINS, Right End; weight 130; '24.

Though light, "Tiny" was one of our most versatile players. He played right end on offense and right half on defense. He played fullback at Valley City after Thomas was hurt. He played quarterback on the second team against Lodi. At times he would go to center when Maple was called back to punt. He made many points after touchdown by kicking goal from placement.

LAWRENCE MAPLE, Center; weight 190; '24.

"Fat" is one of the best passing centers to ever wear the local colors. This is Maple's second year at center and third year of football. Maple has done the punting for M. H. S. for two years. He also plays left tackle on defense.

MAYNARD FLICKINGER, Left Tackle; weight 148; '23.

"Flick" was one of the headiest players on the line. A green player could be placed on either side of him and he would make them play like veterans. "Flick's" loss by graduation will be keenly felt.

HARLAND SHANE, Left Guard; weight 160; '24.

"Shaney" played left guard on offense and right end on defense. It was in the Valley City game that his luster sparkled when he gathered the pigskin close to his breast, scampered across the last mark, and then laughed at them.

EDDIE COX, Quarterback; weight 118; '24.

Eddie proved himself to be one of Medina's best field generals. Eddie did not have much success in carrying the ball in the first part of the season, but steadily improved reaching his best, probably, in the LaGrange game, when he ran fifty-five yards through the whole team. Eddie proved himself very adept on the receiving end of forward passes. Eddie played left half on defense.

NORMAN ABBOTT, Right Tackle; weight 130; '25.

"Pug" was a very enthusiastic footballer. He was always on hand at all practice sessions, and filled in excellently whenever called upon. He has two more years of High School.

GLENN BECK, Right Tackle; weight 140; '24.

The only complete game in which Glenn participated, was the Akron East game, and he played like a veteran, for it wasn't noticeable that Ernie was on the side lines instead of in the game. Beck was one of our most fearless tacklers.

Baseball '23

Medina High just finished the most successful baseball season of her career. Eight games, against teams belonging to the Ohio Athletic Association, were played and won. Four games were played at Medina and four abroad, the team showing as well away as on the local field. The real feat of the season was in downing Wooster in two games, the first time M. H. S. has beaten Wooster in seven years.

Thomas, Medina's southpaw first sacker, swung the big bat this year, clouting four doubles, two triples and three homers. Standen ran him a close second for extra base knocks with four two-baggers, two triples and one homer. Shane, Medina's star right-hand pitcher, produced one double and two triples. Maple, one hundred ninety pound catcher, kicked in with two doubles and one clout for the circuit. Capt. Cox, diminutive second sacker, walloped two doubles. Walter Roshon, making the team for the first time, contributed a double and a homer. Kirk, utility infielder, hit three doubles and a homer. Perkins, M. H. S. third sacker, came across with two doubles. "Wes" Barfoot, southpaw hurler, produced a double and triple. In total, Coach Case's sluggers produced twenty-two doubles, eight triples and seven homers.

Harland Shane, right hand pitcher, struck out fifty-six batters in the six games which he pitched, producing a record for local hurlers to shoot at for some time. Wesley Barfoot, port sider, caused seventeen opposing batsmen to fan the air for the count in two games. Shane's best strike-out record in a single game reached eleven in four different games, while Barfoot whiffed twelve Lodi batters in the first setto of the season. Medina's pitchers struck out a total of seventy-three batsmen for the season, while opposing pitchers were able to get the third strike on the locals fifty-four times. Perkins proved to be a hard man to strike out, whiffing only once in thirty-four legal times at bat. Tom Rowe, lead-off man and left fielder deluxe, managed the opposing pitchers for seven walks.

CAN YOU IMAGINE—

Roshon tall and slim?
Till with his hair mussed up?
Pickles Tanner in a hurry?
Miss Drake riding horseback?
Doris Waltz slowing up a bit?
Miss Phillips with a red bandana around her neck?
Mr. Wagner wearing sideburns?
Gordon Kellog not studying hard?
Ruth Nichols not knowing her lesson?
Edna Wolfe and Mr. Ruth getting along good in assembly?
Esther Venner with a shiny nose?
Dick Warner smiling?
Jay Lash in long trousers?
Bill Sohl dancing?
Jessie Lowe with bobbed hair?
Amherst Spitzer getting to French class on time?
Miss Farnum combing her hair in school time?
Pauline not writing notes?
Wayne Wheeler in a dress suit?
Miss Rice anything but dignified?
Alice Barrow as tiny as Lillian?
Miss Wright in good humor?
Elmer Young playing football?
Frances Bowman doing anything without getting caught?

On a sunny day Ralph Reutter decided to shave on the back porch. Irene Wilbur passing by said:
"Well, Ralph, I see you are shaving on the outside today."

Ralph—"Sure; did you think I was fur lined?"

These jokes are like a basket of eggs,
Some are good and some are stale.

In History class, after Miss Phillips had been talking about the State flower for some time, Eddie pipes up with: "What is the State flower, the gold medal?"

Irene Wilbur—"What bell is that?"

Ethel Woodruff—"The one right up there on the wall."

Suppose you knew a girl who had such a fine brain or such dignity or such grace that she was listed as a "wonderful girl" in an article in her school paper—you'd be proud to know her, wouldn't you? Now glance at this list. Perhaps a friend of yours is named here. If one girl had—

The hair of Virginia Wilt

The eyes of Pearl Hoddinott

The complexion of Mabel Fretter

The teeth of Alice Robinson

The mouth of Lilly Hoddinott

The nose of Ethel Clement

The smile of Opal Aylard

The figure of Virginia Crump

The grace of Rae White

The daintiness of Helen Ridiker

The pep of Pauline Fisher

The popularity of Alverta Munson

The dignity of Margaret Shaw

The dependability of Opal Snyder

The brains of Katherine Root,

What a wonderful girl she would be.

Freshy B (looking at her watch)—"I'm fast."

Freshy A—"You mean your watch is."

Freshy—"S'funny thing, when water freezes, it always freezes with the slippery side up."

St. Peter (to student)—"Were you loyal to M. H. S?"

Student—"Yes, sir."

St. Peter—"Ever fail?"

Student—"No sir."

St. Peter—"Ever play hookey?"

Student—"No sir."

St. Peter—"Ever write notes?"

Student—"U-n-n-no sir."

St. Peter—"Smoke, drink or swear?"

Student—"No sir."

St. Peter—"Well, I guess you will do. Come in. Oh, wait a minute. Did you ever hand in material for the Annual?"

Student—"No sir."

St. Peter—"Run along then, little boy."

LOST—A small boy. Answers to the name of Ernest Rollins. Last seen on South Broadway in his new long pants.

If you're about to start caressing,
Of the girl whose lips you crave;
Be careful of your dressing
And don't forget to shave.

Miss Drake, while explaining the difference between two Spanish verbs said: "Victor, what do you use in the case, for example: 'My dress is dirty'."

Vic. Smith—"Soap."

If in these columns you are hit,
Please don't mind it one least bit;
But enjoy the fun and don't feel blue,
For many others will be hit too.

"BASEBALL"

Baseball is about to begin,
And we're all glad no doubt.
Baseball is just coming in,
And basketball went out.

The boys will cheer and the men will shout,
The High School, too will all turn out.
For the players will almost die,
In the first game against Lodi.

But in the next they're sure to change,
Because they take on old La Grange.
And people far and people near,
Will come to see and come to cheer.

Some teams are good and others are better,
But our team measures up to the letter.
And Eddie's captain of the team this year,
Come on, EVERYBODY, let's have a good cheer.

Let's have a cheer for Ford L. Case,
He's the one that sets the pace.
And if we have a good baseball team,
We'll have to hand Mr. Case the cream.

Let's set them down on strikes, big boys,
And make them fall like baby toys.
And then up to the plate for some fun,
Slam the old apple for a HOME RUN.

—Senator Bates.

Mr. Ruth (in chemistry) while talking about Niagara Falls, after saying that he had never been there, but expected to go soon, he said: "Very few people ever visit Niagara Falls and those that do, visit it on their honeymoon."

Miss Drake (in Caesar) asked for the sentence
"The king flees."

"Bob" Searles—"Rex fugit."

Miss Drake—"No, this is perfect tense."

"Bob" Searles—"The king has fleas."

Miss Drew—"If you were going to a desert island what books would you take along?"

Roy Kinch—"The Bible and Whiz Bang."

V. H. (to Miss Drake coming into French class late)—"Oh, I thought you were minus."

Miss Drake—"No, I'm plus."

Miss Phillips—"I want you people to stop your talking between bells."

Pupil—"Can you stop?"

Miss Phillips—"No, but I want you to have a better start."

Mrs. Jones—"I hear your son plays on the Hi football eleven."

Mrs. Vance—"Yes, indeed!"

Mrs. Jones—"Do you know what position he plays?"

Mrs. Vance—"I am not sure but I think he is one of the drawbacks."

It's great to be an editor,
And sit up late at night,
And scratch your wool
And shoot the "bull,"
And write, and write.

We editors may work and work
'Til our finger tips are sore.

But some poor boob is bound to say,
"Aw, I've heard that joke before."

Amherst Spitzer (as usual late for French class, noticed Miss Drake come in late to class)—“I wasn’t the only one late today. Why were you so late?”

Miss Drake—“I had to wait for the people to come upstairs so that I could come down.”

Amherst—“Why didn’t you slide down the banister?”

Edna Wolfe (in assembly reading “Snappy Stories” placed inside of her history book).

Miss Phillips (becoming suspicious)—“Edna, what are you reading?”

Edna (forgetting herself)—“Snappy History!”

Ernest Vance—“I hear that Joe has been put off the squad.”

Flick—“For what reason?”

Ernie—“He was told to tackle the dummy and he tackled the coach instead.”

R. M. (over the telephone)—“Want to go to the Lecture Course?”

A. B.—“Oh, I would just love to, Till.”

R. M.—“I am selling tickets. Buy one of me?”

Miss Phillips—“Don’t you know the question?”

Eddie—“Yes.”

Miss Phillips—“Well, go ahead then.”

Eddie—“Yes, but I don’t know the answer.”

John Beck (very nervously)—“I—er—I just called around madam, to tell you that your cat—er—a—kept us awake last night with its serenade. I am a musician myself and a human being and I—er—a—don’t wish to have it destroyed but I wondered if—er—a—you could have it tuned.”

Mr. Ruth—"What are the elements of a good explosive?"

G. Beck—"A compound that will explode."

A. T. S.—"Miss Drake, you certainly can murder the French language."

Miss Drake—"Oui, when I get through it will be a dead language."

Donald A.'s Mother—"Were you a little gentleman at Virginia's party?"

D. A.—"Oh yes, but I think her mama must be blind."

D. A.'s Mother—"Blind! Why, son?"

D. A.—"Well because, after I had been there for a little while she said: 'There is the door, little man'."

Ralph Wise had used some unparliamentary language, much to his mother's distress. "Ralph," she cried, "do stop using such dreadful expressions. I can't imagine where you pick them up."

"Well, mother," replied Ralph, "Shakespeare uses them."

"Then don't play with him again," commanded his mother, "he is not fit company for you, I'm sure."

P. O. Clerk—"This letter is too heavy. It requires another one cent stamp."

H. Ridiker—"I don't mind the extra expense, but I don't see how another stamp can make the letter any lighter."

Freshy (at a piano recital)—"What is that beautiful thing he is playing?"

Sophie—"A piano, you dub."

Percy—"I wonder if Dr. Coue ever tried to forget a pet corn in a new shoe on a hot day!"

One night at Shore High School
Two teams were on the floor;
Medina had five points,
Shore had two points more.
The defense of the teams was perfect,
And the long shots cut the air;
But when it came down to support,
Medina wasn't there.
The game was fast and exciting,
And the referee was fair;
But one of our best players
Behold! Maple wasn't there.
Tanner tried some long shots
The side-line laughed right out,
It seemed;
The ball hit the rim and bounced right off,
'Twas the best game
I've ever seen.

—A Sophie

"Has the baby had the measles yet, Mr. Conkle?"

Mr. Conkle—"Sh-h! Don't speak so loud. Whenever he hears anything mentioned that he hasn't got he cries for it."

Miss Farnum—"Where did you absorb those fine principles of yours—at your mother's knee?"

P. Holmes—"No! Over my father's."

Sam Overholt—"I bought a car of you several weeks ago and you said that if anything happened you'd supply the broken parts."

Dealer—"Yes."

Sam O.—"I'd like a new leg and a reputation."

D. B.—"Do you like fish balls?"
Ted McD.—"Why, I never attended one."

Fish—"You're a fool!"
H. R.—"You're the biggest fool."
Mr. Ruth—"Girls! Girls! You forget that I'm here."

Teacher—"Now, if you want to learn anything properly, the only way to begin is at the very bottom."
Tommy—"That wouldn't apply to me, sir."
Teacher—"Why not?"
Tommy—"I want to learn to swim."

F. B.—"Did your watch stop when you dropped it on the floor last night?"
D. B.—"Sure, did you think it would go on through?"

"I understand that your son is very much inclined toward studying."
"Yes, he's inclined so far that he has slid to the bottom of the class."

Mr. Wagner—"I told you to note when the solution boiled over."
Freshman—"I did, sir. It was at 2:45."

We always laugh at teacher's jokes
No matter what they be;
Not because they're funny
But because it's policy.

Mr. Ruth (after seeing Edna Wolfe collide with a Freshman about half her size)—"It's no use Edna, he is entirely too small."

Tommy Rowe—"Father, do you know that an animal puts on a new fur coat every winter?"

His father—"Hush! Your mother is in the next room."

Prof.—"What do you find is the hardest part of the Bible?"

Student—"The book about work."

Prof.—"What is the name of it?"

Student—"It's called 'Job'."

Mr. Wagner (in chemistry)—"Young, what is the chief industry of Salt Lake City?"

E. Young—"Mining."

Mr. Wagner—"No, they wouldn't have anything to mine."

E. Young—"Mine salt."

Mr. Ruth (in chemistry)—"Yes, mathematics will help you in any course you choose, even a stenographer will be benefited by it."

B. Jacob—"How?"

Mr. Ruth—"It will help to remember their dates."

B. Jacob—"Then it must be very, very valuable to a chemistry teacher."

Miss Drake (in Spanish)—"Your explanation is as clear as mud, John."

Johnny T.—"Well, mud covers the ground doesn't it?"

In history class, after Miss Phillips had called on Clayton Hartman he had to lay a whole handful of pennies on the desk before he could stand up.

Miss Phillips—"Evidently all his 'cents' are on his desk."

In history class, just before a written lesson, when Miss Phillips was supplying everyone with paper, pencil, etc., she asked: "Anything else wanted, want to borrow some brains?"

P. F.—"Yes, have you got any?"

In history class Miss Phillips said that there is one Chinaman to every four people in the world. There being eight in the class M. C. said: "There must be two in here then."

Miss Phillips—"Yes, you are one and I don't know who the other is."

M. C.—"Why, you, of course."

Irene—"Mildred, give me some type paper."

Mildred—"What for?"

Irene (not thinking)—"To crochet!"

Mis Axline (to Donald A.)—"Oh, Donald, you are just sickening!"

Later she asked what was the matter with George Eliot's writing.

D. A.—"Oh, it is just sickening."

E. Vance—"This lever is the brake and used in case of emergency."

V. Crump—"Oh, I see. It's something like a kimono."

Miss Drew—"If you will succeed in future life you must have spunk. Do you know what spunk is?"

Leftie—"Yes. Past tense of the verb spank."

RECIPE FOR FLUNKS

Take a string of bluffs, stir in a lot of thin excuses, add a few stalls according to taste; sift in an abundance of enthusiasm; flavor well with moonshine caught on numerous evening strolls, then stuff with one night's cramming and serve hot at the end of the term.—H. S.

The teacher had told the class to draw a river and two people sitting on the bank. Everyone in the room had finished but Willie.

Teacher—"Willie, I thought I told you to draw a river with two people on the bank."

Willie—"Yes ma'am, you did."

Teacher—"And what is the large mark on the bank?"

Willie—"Well, you see, I couldn't draw two people, so I just put up a sign, 'No Trespassing'."

ODE TO A PENCIL

I know not where thou art—
I only know
Thou wert on my desk
Peaceful and content
A short while back;
But as I turned to speak
To a fellow student
Thou disappeared—
But I shall not seek for thee,
Nor the culprit who took thee,
Perchance it might be
The guy I borrowed thee from.

—Wolfe and House

Bee B.—"There's a story in this paper of a woman that used a telephone for the first time in eighty-three years."

Elmer—"She must be on a party line."

SUPPOSE

A proposition like the following were made to you, wouldn't it look SO good that you could not afford to let it get away from you?

You make an annual deposit (to suit your means) with a $988,000,000.00 institution in return for the following agreements:

1st—You receive annually a dividend on your deposits.

2nd—If you become disabled from disease or accident, your deposits to be made by the company. You receive your dividends just the same. You also receive $120.00 in cash each year you are disabled, for each $1000.00 you start to save. This does not reduce your settlements one cent whether you live the time through or whether you don't.

3rd—If you die before you have time to finish the savings program you have started, your beneficiary receives the full amount you started to save.

4th—If you are hurt and die OF ANY KIND OF ACCIDENT any time within two months from the injury your beneficiary to receive TWICE as much as though you had died of disease.

5th—Other valuable guarantees to safeguard you all through the period of the contract.

The NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, the OLD RELIABLE of the Life Insurance World is ready to accept savings accounts on the above basis, providing you are fit physically.

Remember always that to do this thing is "Early Wisdom coined in Cash" 10 or 20 years from now, and to start it NOW.

L. H. RANDALL, Representative

The stormy March is come at last
With wind and cloud and changing skies,
I hear the rushing of the blast
That through the snowy valley flies
Ah! passing, few are they who speak,
Wild, stormy month, in praise of thee;
Yet, though thy winds are loud and bleak,
Thou art a welcome month to me.

—G. B.

Mr. Wagner (in biology)—“Tomorrow we will

“Why is a girl like an arrow?”

“Because she cannot go out without a beau and she is in a quiver until she gets one.”

“Did you give the penny to the monkey, dear?”

Yes, mamma.”

“And what did the monkey do with it?”

“He gave it to his father, who played the organ.”

Waiter—“Beg pardon, sir, your check does not include the waiter.

Tunk—“I don’t suppose so, I didn’t eat one.”

Eddie—“That horse knows as much as I do.”

Hobie—“Well, don’t tell anyone, you might want to sell it some time.”

F. B.—“I heard the other day of a man who

D. B.—“Anyone who lives on onions ought to live alone.”

PROSPEROUS YEAR AT THE OBERLIN BUSINESS COLLEGE

The Oberlin Business College is passing through another prosperous year, the attendance being even larger than last year. This school has now come to occupy a great place in training young men and women for business and office positions and for teaching commercial branches in high schools and business colleges. It now has the highest standing given to any business college in Ohio, by the State School Department at Columbus. It was the first business college to be placed upon the Accredited List of Ohio Colleges, in 1915, by which authority it offers a 2-year commercial teachers' course which leads to the State Certificate. It is said to have more graduates holding State Certificates than all other similar schools combined.

The Oberlin Business College is the school for high school graduates for it urges all young people to complete the full high school course before entering a business college and as a result it has an older and better educated class of students than any other school of the kind. This accounts for the great reputation which this school has gained. Any of your present seniors who think of entering a business college would do well to consider this school.

A FRESHMAN

He tries and tries, and tries again,
And tries and tries with might and main;
And tries and tries, the little man,
To do as little as he can.

Miss Phillips—"What makes you think the ancient Greeks practiced disarmament?"

R. R.—"Look at Venus."

Miss Phillips—"Your answer reminds me of Quebec."

E. C.—"How come?"

Miss Phillips—"Because it is founded on such a big bluff."

We took a run around the end,
Was tackled from the rear;
The right guard sat upon his neck,
The full-back on his ear;
The center sat upon his legs,
Two ends upon his chest;
The quarter and the half-back then
Sat down on him to rest.
The left guard sat upon his head,
A tackle on his face.
The coroner was next called in to Sit upon his case.

Dutch—"Why, you ought to know."

"After all, what is a sophomore?"

"Why, it is nothing but a creature that scratches its head with one hand and thinks with the other."

Vot thinks he is the best in town;

"Der Junior."

A Senior is like a cheap oil lamp.
He isn't usually bright,
He is often turned down,
Usually smokes,
And frequently goes out at night.

"I'm afraid, Johnny," said the S. S. teacher rather sadly, "that I shall never meet you in the Better Land."

Johnny—"Why? What have you been doing now?"

Mr. Ruth—"Why does it always seem warmer on a moonlight night?"

Dutch H.—"Well, you see, it all depends upon your surroundings."

Sylvester—"Say, Arleen, will you bring that book in the morning?"

A. B.—"Yes."

H. S.—"All right. I'll give you a kiss if you will."

Little words of wisdom,
Little words of bluff,
Makes the teacher tell us
"Sit down, that's enough."

IN SHORTHAND II

L. H. (reading practice words)—“Urbanity, trinity, affinity.”

Miss Farnum—“What does affinity mean?”

L. H. (reading on)—“Calamity.”

Miss Phillips (in history class, intending to say “fury”)—“He broke out in uncontrollable fur.”

Bill Sohl in chemistry class (one of his bright ideas)—“Why can’t you fill your radiator with sap before starting on a ride and draw off the syrup when you get home?”

Miss Wright—“That’s nothing. I could whistle as good as a boy when I was a girl.”

E. C.—"It's used in making Ivory Soap, isn't it?"

Two students (no names mentioned) were telling about their abilities to see and hear.

A—"Do you see that barn over there?"

B—"Yes. Can you see that fly walking around on the roof?"

A—"No, but I can hear the shingles crack when he steps on them."

At track meet (watching pole vaulting)—H. Woods—"Just think how much higher he could go if he didn't have to carry that heavy stick."

B. Sohl—"I noticed your ad this morning for a man to retail canaries."

Bird Store Prop.—"Yes, sir. Are you looking for a job?"

Bill—"No. I merely wanted to know where the canaries lost their tails."
